AGRICULTURAL.

WATER SUPPLIES TO FARMERS.

The water supply of this part of the country has been rather deficient this spring, as there have been less rains and fewer showers than usual. However, the drought has not been severe, and the crops are still growing steadily. The following are the indications of the rainfall and the corresponding crops:

- In the months of April, May, and June, the rainfall has been moderate, and the crops are growing well. The wheat is in good condition, and the corn is making good progress.
- In the months of July and August, the rainfall has been less, and the crops are beginning to show signs of stress. The wheat is now beginning to dry out, and the corn is showing some signs of disease.
- In the months of September and October, the rainfall has been moderate, and the crops are growing well. The wheat is in good condition, and the corn is making good progress.

In general, the conditions are favorable for the growth of crops, and the farmers should be able to harvest a good crop if they continue to take proper care of their fields.
