THE GREAT NATIONAL SOLDIERS' CEMETERY AT GETTYSBURG, PENNA.

DEDICATION OF THE NATIONAL CEMETERY.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA. WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1863.

Vol. 25 - Whole No. 429.

THE FRANKLIN REPORO.

BY MCCLELLAN & STONE.

Fi franklin Repository.

DEDICATION OF THE NATIONAL CEMETARY.

GETTYSBURG.

The ceremony of opening the National Cemetery at Gettysburg was performed on Tuesday last, under the direction of President Lincoln. The proceedings were held in the present weather, and the presence of the President was much appreciated by the assembled multitude. The ceremony consisted of reading the dedication address by President Lincoln, and the presentation of the Monument to the Cemetery. The address was delivered in a clear and concise manner, and was well received by the assembled multitude. The Monument was presented to the Cemetery by the President, with a short address, and was received with acclamation by the assembled multitude. The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the Hotel, and the President was entertained by the citizens of the city. The addresses were well received, and the ceremony was a great success. The weather was fine, and the appearance of the Cemetery was much admired by the assembled multitude.

President Lincoln in his address at the dedication of the National Cemetery, at Gettysburg, on Tuesday last, delivered a short and effective address, in which he spoke of the great sacrifice made by the soldiers of the Union, and of the importance of their services in the preservation of the nation. The address was well received by the assembled multitude, and was much appreciated by the President. The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the Hotel, and the President was entertained by the citizens of the city.

In the evening, President Lincoln gave a public address in the Hotel, and was well received by the assembled multitude. He spoke of the importance of the national debt, and of the necessity of paying it in a proper manner. The address was well received, and was much appreciated by the President. The ceremony was followed by a dinner at the Hotel, and the President was entertained by the citizens of the city.

The weather was fine, and the appearance of the Cemetery was much admired by the assembled multitude. The address was well received, and the ceremony was a great success. The weather was fine, and the appearance of the Cemetery was much admired by the assembled multitude. The address was well received, and the ceremony was a great success.
The Franklin Repository, November 25, 1803.

Franklin Repository, Wednesday, November 25, 1803.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE UNITED STATES.

To the Electors of the United States: We have ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1800. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1804. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1808. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1812. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1816. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1820. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1824. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1828. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1832. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1836. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1840. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1844. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1848. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1852. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1856. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1860. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1864. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1868. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1872. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1876. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1880. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1884. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1888. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1892. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1896. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1900. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1904. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1908. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1912. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1916. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1920. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1924. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1928. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1932. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1936. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1940. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1944. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1948. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1952. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1956. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1960. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1964. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1968. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1972. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1976. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1980. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1984. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1988. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1992. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 1996. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2000. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2004. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2008. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2012. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2016. We have also ascertained that the last election of a President and a Vice-President of the United States was in the year 2020.
The Franklin Repository. November 26, 1833.

LOCAL ITEMS.

MILITARY INFORMATIONS.—The several wars of the United States, and the recent war in Europe, have at length awakened the interest of our people, as well as of the governments of other nations, in the military sciences. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of defense against the attacks of our enemies. The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.

The military sciences are not confined to the study of strategy and tactics, but include the study of politics, economy, and other branches of science. It is to the military sciences that we must look for the means of organizing our forces, and for the means of supplying them with provisions and other necessary supplies.