COMMUNICATIONS.

The Hon. John Lynch, Governor

PHILADELPHIA, December 12, 1859.

My Dear Sir:

The subject of the passage of the law to establish a National Bank is one of great importance, and I trust that it will receive the due consideration of the legislature. I am of the opinion that the establishment of such a bank would be a wise and beneficial measure for the promotion of the public interests.

I am, with great respect,

Your obedient servant,

John Lynch.
