The Reason Why

We imagine that some of the conservative and Union-loving people of Louisiana would like to know the reason why some of the Breckinridge and Lane papers in the South support that ticket as the said papers themselves state it. The reason is, in some instances, not a little suggestive and curious.

An Incident in the Campaign in Illinois

The Joliet Signal relates the following (thrilling incident): At a meeting in Wilmington, on Tuesday evening last, while Judge Randall was addressing the meeting, and recounting a great deal of land from Congress for building the Central Railroad, and showing the important effect it had had upon the finances and prospects of the State, his eye fell upon Col. Peter Stewart, one of our oldest and most esteemed and respectable citizens.

Gov. Wise and Mr. Buchanan

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says: "It is well known that Governor Wise and Mr. Buchanan have not been friends for a long time. Immediately after the inauguration of the latter, he was requested by the Governor to remove from office here in Washington, all the Know-Nothing clerks that had secretly and openly worked against him (Wise) during the great struggle in 1850. It is said that Mr. Buchanan had promised him that before his election. But Mr. Buchanan, true to himself, did not remove the agents of the Democratic party, for which praiseworthy act Governor Wise cursed him most eloquently. In 1859 he sided with Douglas against Buchanan, condemning the latter, and encouraging the friends of the former by a most fervent letter, ending with the words: 'Fight on! fight on! fight on! never yield but in death and victory!' regretting that illness in his family prevented him from coming to the rescue of Douglas. 'But now things have assumed quite a different aspect. Gov. Wise has ceased to be a partisan, and therefore Mr. Buchanan could, with justice, exclaim a few days ago to some friends: 'I am very well pleased with Gov. Wise. He is coming to his senses, and behaving very well!'"

A Slave Captured

A SLAVE CAPTURED. - Norfolk, August 28. - A slave, name unknown, but probably the brig Triton, was brought into port to-day, 41 days from Luango, West coast of Africa, in charge of Midshipman Farquhar. She was captured on the 16th of July by the steamer Mystic. She cleared from New Orleans in March, and changed captain and crew in Cuba. There were no papers or colors on board; but it is supposed that she was to have taken on board the slaves purchased for the brig Triton, captured by the Constitution, in December. She had false papers, and was carrying a cargo of slaves. All the crew, excepting the surgeon and one seaman, will be retained at Norfolk. She is a very fast and well built vessel, and has a very good crew of American vessels.

Judge Douglas in Stanton! GRAND RECEPTION! THE MASSES IN MOTION!!! One Hundred Guns Fired!!

Last Saturday was a glorious day for the Democracy of Augusta. A glorious day for the Democracy of Augusta. A glorious day for the Democracy of Augusta.

On arriving at Charlottesville, between 8 and 9 P. M. persons gathered in the Depot. W. P. Gordon, Esq., introduced the Hon. Judge Douglas to the platform, and was greeted with loud applause.

The largest audience we have ever seen congregated in Stanton, assembled in and around the Court-house, yard to see and hear Mr. Douglas. The audience was variously estimated at from 2,500 to 3,500 persons.

Gen. Win. H. Harman welcomed him to the Valley of Virginia, and introduced him to the vast throng in attendance substantially as follows: Judge Douglas is a man commissioned by the good people of Augusta, in their name and behalf, to extend to you a most cordial and hearty welcome to the Valley of Virginia.

He said that the North loved the Union as dearly, if not more so, than the people of Virginia. They were bound by marital and kindred ties to both North and South, and if this Union should be dissolved, it would be cutting the heart-strings of those who had entered the West, leaving their fathers, mothers, sisters and kindred behind in both sections of the Union.

He argued that the running of Mr. Breckinridge could have no other effect than to divide the Democratic vote in the Northern States, and thus render the election of Lincoln more probable.

He said that he had been asked in Norfolk the other day by the Breckinridge Elector whether he thought the mere election of Lincoln would be answer sufficient to dissolve the Union.

He would have answered, "No. Any man who was elected President of the United States by the American people in conformity with the Constitution, must be inaugurated. If, after that, he attempted to make war upon the rights of any State, he would insist upon enforcing the laws, and hanging the traitor to his country on the gallows."

On the 4th of December, 1857, and I did not attend the same. I was in the city of Washington, and I did not attend the same.

Non. Wm. Barry. In regard to the point relative to the President's threat to remove his friends, (Douglas) had made the statement in a public speech. The President denies it in a letter to a member of Congress.

Mr. Douglas here alluded to the charge that he was the "stump candidate." He said the reason which had prevented candidates heretofore from taking the stump was the fear of giving utterance to sentiments in one locality that would lose votes in another.

He again thanked the audience for their marked attention, and said he should carry back with him to the prairies of Illinois the most grateful recollections of the generous hospitality which had been extended to him by the people of Augusta.

Mr. Douglas was then escorted to the residence of Mr. G. H. Harman, Esq., who greeted him by saying that he was glad to see him, and that he was glad to see him.

He said that he had been asked in Norfolk the other day by the Breckinridge Elector whether he thought the mere election of Lincoln would be answer sufficient to dissolve the Union.

He would have answered, "No. Any man who was elected President of the United States by the American people in conformity with the Constitution, must be inaugurated. It seems that John Blair Hope, Esq., one of the delegates from the Winchester District to the Charleston Convention, is taking an active part in the general election.

That Mr. Hope was guilty of the most glaring, bare-faced and unexcusable tergiversation at Charleston. It is only necessary to refer to the printed report to substantiate a committee of five was appointed, to report a resolution or a series of resolutions, indicative of the position the delegation occupied in regard to a platform.

James Harbo, D. H. Hoag, Jas. Blair Hope, R. H. Glass and S. H. Yost. The committee had several meetings, at one of which the Hon. Thos. S. Boone was present. The great difficulty was to frame a resolution to answer the purpose desired.

Resolved, That every attempt on the part of any Territorial Legislature, which by direct legislation, or legislation of an indirect and unfriendly character, to amend or impair the constitutional right of any citizen of the United States to take his property into the common Territories, and there to hold and enjoy the same, is wholly tortious and illegal, and remains, in spite of the laws of the courts.

Resolved, That the question of consistency in this case having been raised, it is but fair to the Democratic party and to the political friends of the times that the unwritten facts bearing upon the point be made known by some one familiar with them.

The St. Louis Bulletin, in attempting to correct the Republicans in a statement of fact relative to Mr. Hoge, says: "There are two gentlemen by the name of Hoge who were delegates to Baltimore and Charleston. The Republican was right in stating that a resolution endorsing J. D. Hoge, after his speech at Harper's Ferry, was voted down by 100 to 5. J. D. Hoge was a bolter from Baltimore, and supports Breckinridge."

The delay in reaching a consideration of the reports gave rise to frequent murmurs and openly expressed suspicions on the part of the friends of intervention. It was very apparent that the result of the procrustean vote was intended to benefit Mr. Hunter's chances for the nomination.

Resolved, That the question of consistency in this case having been raised, it is but fair to the Democratic party and to the political friends of the times that the unwritten facts bearing upon the point be made known by some one familiar with them.
