VALLEY SPIRIT.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 12, 1850.

VOLUME 12.

NUMBER 20.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

[Text continues with various points and speeches related to government and state matters.]

[Continues with other articles and advertisements related to local news and events.]
WINTER IN THE COUNTRY.

The white snow clad high
The frozen trees again,
And the merry, gay, singing scene
That calls to mind the songs we sang.

Oh, sweet winter, sweet winter!
Thy charm is in thy snow,
Thy gem is in thy bow,
Thy own is in thy snow.

The sun is hidden from above
And the moon is half concealed,
And the stars are shining bright
And the moon is half concealed.

The moon is bright above
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the stars are shining bright.

The snow is falling soft
And the stars are shining bright
And the sun is shining high
And the snow is falling soft.

The sun is shining high
And the snow is falling soft
And the stars are shining bright
And the sun is shining high.

The stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high.

The stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high.

The stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high.

The stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.

The snow is falling soft
And the sun is shining high
And the stars are shining bright
And the snow is falling soft.
VALLEY SPIRIT.

HAMBURG, PA., June 10, 1850.

[Article discussing railroads and politics.]