DEBATE OF ABOLITIONISM IN NEW ENGLAND.

March 19, 1856.

DEAR SIR: I have had occasion to peruse the various newspapers that have been published during the last few days, and I am much impressed with the fact that there has been a marked increase in the number of anti-slavery publications. It is true that many of the newspapers have been opposed to the abolition of slavery, but I think it is evident that the time has come when the people of this country must stand up and be counted. The abolition of slavery is a matter of national importance, and it is the duty of every citizen to support the cause of freedom.

In this connection, I wish to say that I have always been an advocate of the abolition of slavery. I believe that it is a moral and righteous cause, and I am determined to do all in my power to aid in its achievement. I have therefore taken the step of joining the anti-slavery movement, and I hope that you will do the same.

Yours truly,

[Signature]

VOLUME 12.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 30, 1859.

NUMBER 40.

WASHINGTON, D.C.-On Tuesday, November 13, a young man named John Smith was arrested by the police and charged with stealing a horse. Smith is a known criminal, and he has been arrested several times in the past. He is currently being held at the city jail, awaiting trial.

In other news, a fire broke out in a warehouse on Market Street yesterday. The fire was quickly extinguished by the fire department, and no one was injured. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

The weather is expected to be cloudy and cool today, with a high of 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Education: The school board is scheduled to meet this evening at 7:00 PM to discuss the budget for the upcoming school year. All parents are invited to attend.

Sports: The high school basketball team is hosting a game against the rival school tonight. The game is expected to be intense, and fans are urged to come early to secure their seats.

In brief: The city council will meet next week to discuss the proposed budgets for various departments. The public is invited to attend and offer their input.

END OF NEWS.
VALLEY SPIRIT.

MARTINEN.

COLD BLUFF.

James Whittaker set out in his sled. He had a dog, but had not yet expected any company.

Mr. Whittaker, as usual, was in his best attire, with a fur hat on his head. He had a rope about his neck, which was fastened to a pole at the back of the sled. With this rope he could control the dog, and direct him to go where he wanted it to go. The dog was a good one, and served him very well.

Mr. Whittaker was going to visit some friends at Cold Bluff, and he had his bag on his back. He carried a bunch of money in his pocket, and a book under his arm. He was going to give his friends some books, and to read them aloud to them. He was going to stay there for a week, and then return home.

Mr. Whittaker's dog was a good one, and served him very well. He could control the dog, and direct him to go where he wanted it to go. The dog was a good one, and served him very well.

On the way home, Mr. Whittaker met some friends, and they joined him. They gave him a warm welcome, and wished him a good journey. Mr. Whittaker thanked them, and rode on with them. They had a good time together, and talked about their adventures and experiences. They had a good time together, and talked about their adventures and experiences. They had a good time together, and talked about their adventures and experiences.
VALLEY SPIRIT
CHAMBERSBURG, PA.
CIRCULATION 2,500 COPIES
Wednesday Morning, March 30, 1864
JOHN R. TAYLOR, Proprietor.
RICH. L. WRIGHT, Manager.
The Tradition of Democracy.

[Text continues on the page.]

GENERAL NEWS

The 4th of April has arrived by the train from Frederick, and the weather is very pleasant. Spring has come, and all is blooming and green.

[Further text continues on the page.]

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN.

[Text continues on the page.]