VALLEY SPIRIT—OCTOBER 10, 59.

PRESIDENT, JEREMIAH S. BLACK, BLACK, M.P.

WHEREAS, a general disorder is existing in the United States, the government in his mind, is a declared and serious crime, The President of the United States, under the Constitution, and the laws of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

JEREMIAH S. BLACK, Pres.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.

The President of the United States, is hereby required to take such measures as he shall deem necessary, and to use all means and measures, which he shall deem expedient, to secure the peace and safety of the United States, and to preserve the Constitution and laws of the United States.