VALLEY SPIRIT—OCTOBER 24, '60.

THE BAILING OF WASHINGTON.

Party of Government—all the while.

In the recent trials for the charges of the Government, on the 1st of the month, the trial court of the United States, which consists of...
The Presidential contest is now over, and we are about to enter on a period of rest and repose. The result has been decided by a large majority, and the United States is now in the hands of the Democratic party. The victory is due to the immense majority of the people, who have chosen the Democratic ticket. The Republican party has been defeated, and we are now to consider the measures which we shall adopt to carry out the wishes of the people.

The Democratic ticket is now in the hands of the people. The people have decided that the Democratic party shall govern the country. It is now our duty to live up to the great trust reposed in us. We must work in harmony, and we must work for the good of the country. The Democratic party is now in charge of the government, and we must not fail in our duty.

The Democratic party is in the hands of the people. The people have chosen the Democratic ticket, and we must now live up to the great trust reposed in us. We must work in harmony, and we must work for the good of the country. The Democratic party is now in charge of the government, and we must not fail in our duty.

The Democratic party is in the hands of the people. The people have chosen the Democratic ticket, and we must now live up to the great trust reposed in us. We must work in harmony, and we must work for the good of the country. The Democratic party is now in charge of the government, and we must not fail in our duty.

The Democratic party is in the hands of the people. The people have chosen the Democratic ticket, and we must now live up to the great trust reposed in us. We must work in harmony, and we must work for the good of the country. The Democratic party is now in charge of the government, and we must not fail in our duty.

The Democratic party is in the hands of the people. The people have chosen the Democratic ticket, and we must now live up to the great trust reposed in us. We must work in harmony, and we must work for the good of the country. The Democratic party is now in charge of the government, and we must not fail in our duty.