We are happy to inform the friends of this establishment that they are now in a more prosperous condition than at any time since the paper was organized. Our circulation has increased, our advertising rates have been lowered, and our business has been greatly improved. We are, therefore, able to increase the amount of our expenditures and are prepared to give our readers more and better information than ever before.

Camp, Capt. Campbell's Artillery.

CAMP, Capt. Campbell's Artillery.

Capt. Campbell's Artillery arrived at Camp Scott, N.Y., on Monday morning. The regiment was well received by the officers, and a large number of their friends, Capt. Campbell and Capt. Campbell arrived at Camp Scott.

No regiment has a greater pride than Capt. Campbell's Artillery, and the officers and men are doing their best to maintain the reputation of their regiment. They are well supplied with all the necessary articles for their duty, and are ready at any time to do their duty.

We heartily wish that all the regiments in the Army of the Potomac may be as well supplied as Capt. Campbell's Artillery.

Regimental Parade.

The officers and men of Capt. Campbell's Artillery gave a parade on Monday afternoon, at their camp, to show the fine condition of the regiment.

Regimental Parade.

The bayonets of the regiment were testable, and the officers and men were dressed in their uniforms. The parade was well attended, and the officers and men were well pleased with the results of the parade.
