Valley Spirit

Chambersburg, August 26, 1857

The editor and publishers of the Valley Spirit, in the discharge of their duties, are peculiarly concerned in the present crisis. The public interest, which the press is bound to respect, requires that they should be known of this fact, and that they should act with due regard to the public good.

There are now two parties in the United States, the Democratic and the Republican. The former is the party of the North, and the latter is the party of the South. Both parties are divided into two sections: the Democratic party of the South, and the Republican party of the North.

The Democratic party of the South is composed of the following divisions: the Upper South, the Middle South, and the Lower South. The Upper South is composed of the states of Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee. The Middle South is composed of the states of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana. The Lower South is composed of the states of Georgia, Florida, and South Carolina.

The Republican party of the North is composed of the following divisions: the Upper North, the Middle North, and the Lower North. The Upper North is composed of the states of New York, Ohio, and Michigan. The Middle North is composed of the states of Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin. The Lower North is composed of the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa.

The Democratic party of the South is the party of the slaveholding states, and the Republican party of the North is the party of the free states. The Democratic party of the South is the party of the South, and the Republican party of the North is the party of the North.

The Democratic party of the South is the party of the South, and the Republican party of the North is the party of the North. The Democratic party of the South is the party of the slaveholding states, and the Republican party of the North is the party of the free states.
