HATS & CAPS
BARGAINS! BARGAINS!
The Reputation of the Old Stand still kept up.

J. L. DECHERT
6608 Landis Ave., North Ward, N. J.

Chambersburg,
Having made very large additions to their stock of Silk Hats, Hungarian Hats, Havelock, French Felt, Burnside, Dupont, Port Royal, Oxford, Prince of Wales, Garibaldi and Still Brims of all colors, Black, Blue, Gray, Clark. Pearl, &c., &c.

CHILDREN'S CAPS

Children's Caps

Straw Goods.

Dairy's Department.

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. It is well known that Dairy is the best in the city, and we have nothing to beat it. We have every kind of straw goods that you can buy.

NORTH EAST, THREE CENTS STREET, HARRISBURG, PENNA.

HEAD AND FEET

THE BETTER CLOTHES, BETTER FABRICS, AND FINEST MATERIALS

BARONET STREET, between Third and Fourth Streets.

ELLEN CHERRY
KETTLER, LINDSLEY & CO.

SILK & WOOL SMITHEES

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of silk and wool goods that you can buy.

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of hat goods that you can buy.

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of straw goods that you can buy.

W. S. SMITH

7 East Third Street.

BARONET STREET, between Third and Fourth Streets.

EVENING RICHICI

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of hat goods that you can buy.

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of straw goods that you can buy.

The best quality of things that you can buy. This department is the very best. We have every kind of hat goods that you can buy.

W. S. SMITH

7 East Third Street.

BARONET STREET, between Third and Fourth Streets.
The war has begun: A war of extermination against the Indians and their allies. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States. A war of extermination against the entire population of the territory, except those who become subjugated to the authority of the United States.
Our contemporary states that the views of the people of the United States are not as yet strong enough in some of the states, nor as yet well understood by the people of other states, to give them the freedom of the press which they ought to have. But we think that the agitation of the subject will continue to be the rage, and that the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

democratic party.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.

The agitation of the subject will
continue to be the rage, and that
the people of the United States
will, in time, become more
intelligent and better informed
on this subject.
LOCAL NEWS.

The undersigned Governor of the State of Virginia, in accordance with the President's request, has directed the Secretary of War to be informed that the President and the Governor of several States will explain their views.

The undersigned Governor of the State of Virginia, in accordance with the President's request, has directed the Secretary of War to be informed that the President and the Governor of several States will explain their views.

A FRANKLIN COUNTY SOLDIER.

We have a letter received from a soldier in the Army of the United States, who has just returned from the field of battle. The letter is dated from a camp near the city of Washington, and its contents are briefly as follows:

My dear friend,

I have just returned from the field of battle, where I have been for the past six months. The enemy is in full retreat, and we have made great inroads into their territory. The President has ordered a general advance, and we are expecting to capture Richmond at any moment. I hope to be home soon, and will write you a full account of the campaign when I arrive.

Yours truly,

[Signature]

The following letter was received from a soldier in the Army of the United States, who has just returned from the field of battle.

My dear friend,

I have just returned from the field of battle, where I have been for the past six months. The enemy is in full retreat, and we have made great inroads into their territory. The President has ordered a general advance, and we are expecting to capture Richmond at any moment. I hope to be home soon, and will write you a full account of the campaign when I arrive.

Yours truly,

[Signature]

Capt. Kenton.

Capt. Kenton.

The undersigned Governor of the State of Virginia, in accordance with the President's request, has directed the Secretary of War to be informed that the President and the Governor of several States will explain their views.

The undersigned Governor of the State of Virginia, in accordance with the President's request, has directed the Secretary of War to be informed that the President and the Governor of several States will explain their views.

The following letter was received from a soldier in the Army of the United States, who has just returned from the field of battle.

My dear friend,

I have just returned from the field of battle, where I have been for the past six months. The enemy is in full retreat, and we have made great inroads into their territory. The President has ordered a general advance, and we are expecting to capture Richmond at any moment. I hope to be home soon, and will write you a full account of the campaign when I arrive.

Yours truly,

[Signature]
GREAT REBELLION IN NEW YORK.

Protest Against Negro Agitation.

THE CONSTITUTION AS IT IS.

Speech of Mr. Wickliff, of Kentucky, on the Constitution of the United States.

JULY 10, 1862.

A meeting was held on the 9th inst., at the Mutual Temperance Hall, New York, for the purpose of discussing the question of the abolition of slavery, and the protection of the Constitution of the United States. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Wickliff, who occupied the chair, and called for the nominations of the Convention. The nominations of Mr. Wickliff and of Mr. Corwin were adopted, and the Convention adjourned.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Corwin. Mr. Corwin addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.

Remarks of Mr. Wickliff. Mr. Wickliff addressed the meeting, and said that he was glad to have this opportunity of speaking on the subject of slavery. He said that the Constitution of the United States was a compact among the states, and that the states had the power to make and enforce the laws which they deemed necessary and proper for the general welfare. He said that the Constitution was a work of art, and that it was a work of the highest order. He said that the Constitution was a work of the highest order, and that it was a work of the highest order.