UNION NATIONAL TICKET.

ABRAWAW LINCOLN, POR THE PROPERT, ANDREW JOHNSON,

GEN. CANERON has called the Union State Committee to meet at Harrisburg on Wednesday, the 6th of July. The campaigs about to open is one of vital importance to the Union is one of vital importance to the Union party and to the Nation; and we cannot too strongly urge the carnett, cordial and prumpt co-operation of overy member of the committee in the work of organization for the struggle. Let the attendance be general.

The army of Gen. Grant before Peterburg, and of General Sherman before Attants, have made no decisive operations during the last week. Both are gradually but we trust surely reaching the destruction of the military power of the rebellion. Its whole life is in those two armies, and when they are defeated rebellion practically ends. Most important news may be expected from both furnt and Sherman at any time.

Gen. Hunter reached Lynchburg last week and destroyed the railroad for some distance, but did not attempt to capture the town. He is represented as having gone into Western Virginia, in accordance with his original orders. What his movement is, we cannot conjecture,

PREMIUTANIA CONGRESSIVEN.

PENNEYLVANEA CONGRESSIEN.

The long seesism of Congress is drawing to a close, and the Pennsylvania Representatives are about to appeal to their constituencies. They have been entrusted with a high measure of responsibility in this fearful peril to our common country, and they will be judged by an earnest and loyal people with a jealous scrutiny that no cunning sophistry or political discipline cas withstand. Those who have been faithful to the National cause will, in most instances, be returned by increased majorities, while those repusenting debatable districts, like Measrs. Miller. Coffroth, M'Allister. Dawson and Larcar, and have voted generally as Jeff. Davis would have distated, will have a fearful rendering when they confront the people they have persistently betrayed. The following is a list of the present delegation—Democrats in italies, and Union seembers in Roman:

1. Samuel J. Randall.	13. H. M. Tracey.
2. Charles O'N eil.	14. Wm. H. Miller.
3. Leonard Myers.	15. Joseph Bailey.
4. Wm. D. Kelly.	16. A. H. Coffroth.

Of the eld members Hon. J. K. Moor Of the old members Hon. J. K. Moor-head has ahready been unanimously re-neminated for a fourth term. and Hon. Thos. Williams has been practically re-sourinated by two of the three counties of his district declaring for him. Of the other Union members, all are pretty cer-tain to be re-nominated without a contest and triumphantly re-elected, but Messra-falle and Tracy, who were elected two pears ago irregularly, receiving the votes of the Democratz and a fraction of the Unionists, hithough both have issaide blasscless records. Judge Hale, we learn, will not be a candidate, and the regular will not be a candidate, and the regular blameless records. Judge Hale, we learn, will not be a candidate, and the regular Union nomines will succeed him. Trary will probably run solens rolens against the Union nomines, and the issue will depend upon the force of the nomination made against him, but we look for the election of the candidate for whom the Capperheads do not vote. A feeble effort has been made to defeat the re-nomination of Judge Kelly in the 4th district, but it will not succeed. So true, carnest and this a Representative cannot well be spared just now from our National councils.

On the Democratic side, Mesers Ran-all, Stiles, Strouse and Dennison will certainly be re-nominated, and we look for their re-election. A contest will be made against Dennison in Susquehanna and Luzerse, and against Strouse in Leb-agens and Schuylkill, but the chances are shamed with them. We have not seen any indications as yet of our Irish "triends" in the minimal regions of Schuylkill and furgipe voting less carrestity, less fre-questly, are taking less interest in making their neighbors will not an electric product of the course of loyalty and Freedom; and as they make their own refusinal and-election laws, they will give just as much sugarity as they does no-cessary—We learn that Grow will not ran again, and Campballhas gone abroad We learn that Grow will not gain, and Campball has gone abroad labeler to Swedens: Amons and ston will ga out by party limitation rill be succeeded by intense Copper-illie themselves. Union men cannot fail to gain at least five Congressmen in this State, and if New York, Ohio and Indiana do as well, the proposed amendment of the constitution abolishing slavery, will not be defeated in the next Congress for want of a two-thirds vote. Let the Union men look well to the interests of the cause in the debatable districts, and there will be few copperheads chosen to hard their impotent treason against the measures deemed necessary to give us a United and Free Republic.

COFFROTH SPEAKS A PIECE. COFFROTE SPEAKS A PIECE.

If was in balmy June time! Gay Flora wore her richest robes, with variegated hues, and flinging wide-spread her sweets fragrance. Ambrosial dews refreshed the green fields, and hung in crystal tears upon the flowers as they welcomed each returning morn. The winged choristers of Heaven sang their loveliest songs as new days were born and died; and the modest hollyhock was struggling to rear its swelling bads to burst forth in splashing splendor.

aweiling bods to burst forth in splashing splendor.

Coffroth was in Congress. He had entered the Hall with a fixedness of purpose on one point that he hoped no conjuncture of events could unsettle. He had "determined not to participate in any general debate." The world should grow no wiser or greater at his expense. He had resolved to go through his term of service displaying only the—

"Playfal bushes, that seem'd nought," But luminous escapes of thought."

But events have thickened upon Coffroth.

"Playibl blashes, that secund nought,"
But luminous escapes of thought."
But luminous escapes of thought."
But luminous escapes of thought."
Is vain did he struggle to be "a listener and not a talker" when the most "extraordium; legislation" was being pressed upon the country. He could have tolerated any degree of treason—any amount of relentless murder by the cruel authors of this wanton war, so that it did not too deeply crimson the foot-prints of crime. So long as it brought rich fruits only to traitors, and disasters to loyal men, he dould be content to listen. But when the twin demons of treason and despotism were about to feel the avenging stroke of a tithful men, and a justice loving God, he must raise his voice in thunder-tones to protest against it. As Freedom dawned above the bloody din of civil strife and pointed to a continent about to be regenerated. he ffings resolution to the winds, and breaks the expressive allence he had fixed for a Congressional term. Four millions of "ignorant and debased negroes" were about to be turned loose upon the country "with postilential effect".

"Their sockettigistig as the serpents later" Their mose frigistig as the serpents later". He could not therefore be aflent, for he felt that it might be the thirthe calm of fels timas is "might to his described balm of death to the country, and Controth spake! The "mere abolition of Statier," was not his complaint. For such a trifle, abstractly considered, he would not have violated pre-determined reticence; but when the abolition of Stavery endangered the harmony and success of treason, in his judgment to easied to be aff abstraction, and he bent his whole colossal energies to stay the tifle of approx to the amiable and virtuous murderers of our brave fathers, sons and brothers. From his own land of herotism and-bereavement; of Freedom and Freedom's sacrifices, he turned his eyes to a land blotted with gigantic crimes and holding high carnival in desolation and death. It has assumed rulers, clouded with greint and treason, who have made wicked, canneless war and hecatombe of dead to make mean ambition and matchless perfidy approved in history; they—"Whose games were Empires, and whose stakes Whose tables, earth—whose dice were human-boxes."

And to these he turns with mingled sympathy and adoration, and declares that to abridge the rights of traiters or take their slaves would be "steating"—and he it known that Coffroth won't steal, especially from traitors!

In aupport of his position Coffroth in vokes the power of logic—not mere "dog-matic jargen learnt by heart," but original, profound, communding logic. He stood before the ginnts of the Nation—and startled them with an exposition of constitution could be amended in conformity with its own provisions; but then Cofforth had not yet lived, or had not vet of Webster incontinently pales. Vaily have statesmen believed that the constitution could be amended in conformity with its own provisions; but then Cofforth had not yet lived, or had not yet apoken. To him alone belongs the refinement of logic that declares it unconstitutional to amend the constitution according to the terms of the constitution; and henceforth the constitution must stand before the Nation as a monument of unconstitutionality. Sad fate for the great declaration of rights; but profoundly sorrowful as it seems, Coffroth is inexorable, and the constitution must be necepted as unconstitutional!

—So much we partion, since fools and follies—must ever go together; and perhaps we should pardon more. It is not the fault of Coffroth that Coffroth cannot treason; for his reason is not of his own creation, and it would be unflital to blame his parents.—bhasphemous to blame his God. Hence the mantle of charity falls over such mingled nonsense and half-fiedged treason as Coffroth inters. He has histened to able men talk treason; saw learned colleagues are the traffor spart, and they wield over him.—

"That odd impulse, which in wars or creeds, Makes men, like cattle, follow him who leads." And he has followed—bravely, pompous.

Makes mell, have cattle, however, pompous-ly followed, and Congress and Coffroth sbared a common disgrace.

GOLD-OUR FIXANCES.

COLEMBETHANCES.

Congress has again resolved to perform an impossibility, and the world will not be astonished that it has failed. There would be just as much reason in enacting that water shall not ran down hill, as to puss laws designed to regulate the price of gold arbitrarily; but Congress tries and fails, and keeps trying from time to time although the evidence of failure has risen mountain high. The first enactment forbid the hypothecation of gold purchased for more than par, and gold wort up and down thereafter just as usual Next Secretary Chase was authorized to sell till gold in his vanite, and a collapse was predicted; but the gambler made a "pool"—that is combined together—and coolly invited Mr. Chase to sell and they would take the lot. As they would then have been able to control the market absolutely, and run gold up to any figure they wanted it to reach, Mr. Chase wisely kept his procious metal so that he might have it when his interest must be naid. have been able to centrol the market absolutely, and run gold up to any figure they wanted it to reach, Mr. Chase whely kept his precious metal so that he might have it when his interest must be paid. But Congress was still incredulous, and another bill was resolved upon to cramp the genius of the gambiers. A bill was peased practically declaring that gold was not a merchantable commodity, and that it should not be sold on the stock boards: and Congressional financiers waited for gold to topple down and burry with it the whole swarm of speculators. But probably to the surprise of Congress, it gave the gambiers the entire control of the sales of gold, and it went up twen ty per cent. In a single day, touching two hundred and thirty and since vibrating between that and two hundred and eight. The result of the last enactment of Congress was to enhance everything, and the people pay the piper. Had a carefully prepared tax bill been applied to gold gambing, so stringent in its provisions that it could not be evaded, and so exacting upon such operations as to give the government the high's share of the profits when ancessful, and to's well diasater fearfully when they stake and lose, we should have been guilless of the folly of restricting trade and, had a large source of revenue for the treasury.

Gold must be bought shale barriered. It is delty needed in the legitimates shauncis of business, and those who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames who do not possess it must trade with flames and hone who do not possess it must trade with flames and not possess and a long as it is subject to influtions.

ons in price, Just to long will men le in it as they do in every other in gamble in it as they do in every other marketsble commodity. They will combine to enhance or depreciate it, as they do the price of flour, dry goods, groceries and fancy articles; but if allowed to purise the forward of the purise the flow of the price of flour, dry goods, groceries and fancy articles; but if allowed to purise their own way, it will just as surely and the purise their own way, it will just as surely and the purise the purise of the purise to cannot perform.

There is one remedy for the alarming advance in gold, and but one. Operators can manipulate gold to rabulous figures colely because the government is without adequate resources for its vast liabilities.

If Congress would pass a revenue bill surfificient to pay the interest on our debt, and make certain provision for retaining our circulation and bonds as the interest of trade may demand, gold would not command a premium of forty per cent. to-day; and when it is considered that the enormous indirect taxes now suffered by the people are justly attributable to the cowardice or faithlessness of Congress on this vital question, there must be a fearful reckoning for many members when they come before their outraged people for re-election. The people are now paying an average of thirty per cent. more for the necessaries of life than they would be asked to pay, did Congress so perfect the tax bill asto give ample revenue. If an individual issues his notes and bonds to an extent beyond his visible means to pay, they inevitably depreciate and he is discredited. The same simple rule applies to the government; and until Congress learns these accepted rules of trade, we shall have unsettled finances and grievous burdens imposed upon the people, One-tenth the money now paid by the people indirectly in the shape of enhanced prices for everything they consume, would, if paid directly to the government to sanstain its credit, give ample means to float our debt and keep gold at a very moderate premium. To refuse to tax, therefore, is to refuse relief to

THE PUGITIVE BLAVE LAW.

THE FUGITIVE BLAYE LAW.

THE Senate on Thursday passed the act repealing the Prigitive Slave laws of 1793 and 1850, by a vote of 22 to 12. We give here the Yeas and Nays:

YEAS—Mesers. Anthony, Brown, Chandler, Clark, Connass, Dixon, Foot, Grines, Hale, Hard, Hard of repealing the Fugitive Slave law; but such is the humilation of our great Commonwealth to-day, and such has almost ever been her fate. Pennaylvania has furnished nearly two hundred thousand men to defend our sacred Nationality against the assaults of Treason and Slavery, and full twenty-live thousand of that number fill untimely and often nameless graves,—heroic sacrifices to the crowning crime of human bondage and its endless train of evils; and when an enlightened progress, dictated alike by humanity and National necessity, seeks to blot from our statue books the bistering evidence of our National abasement to Slavery. Pennsylvania records a solid vete against it in the first legislative tribunal of the land. Fortunately the bill has passed and is now a law, despite the shame of our Nate.

—With Senator Buckalew we have nothing to do. He has disappointed no one-laws ascrificed no convictious; violated no pledges; falsified no record. He was chosen by a feriletterin is amountly with his ing to do. He has disappointed no one—has sacrificed no convictions; violated no leadings; falsified no record. He was chosen by a legislature in synapathy with his views, and he has simply been consistent in error. But Senator Cowan has been faithless to the sentiment that called him to reoponable trust, and shamefully violated his own voluntary record. In 1800, when the writer hereof was Chairman-of the State Committee, he was compelled fo recall several appointments made for this same Edgar Cowan because of the radical abolition principles he advocated. His only theme seemed to be the destruction of Slavery, and the blotting out of the last vestage of its power. In abort he was radically in advance of the times—then holding and advocating views as violent that, in the absence of rebellion, they could not be justified either in law or comity. Before his election the formal secession of several States was a matter of history, and Slavery was about to resort causelessly and wickedly to the terrible arbitrament of the sword. In such a crisis, the supposed fielding and kineary in a such that is the government and his known hostility to the fraitful parent of same Mation. It was the supposed fielding and his many hostility to the fraitful parent of same Mation.

was clothed with what laightest legislative trust. Others miss faiter before the saluctions of power, or the disappointments of small minds, but no one doubted that there would ever be one intitatel man in the Senate—Edgar Cowan of Pennsylvania.

there would ever be one satisful man in the Senate—Edgar Cowan, of Pennsylvania.

—Such were his antecodynate such his pledges—such the circumstances of his election. How faitheas he has been, let his record tell. With Sasisbury and Powell and Davis, and every open, the solent sympathiser with treason, he votes habitually from day to day, and shames his logo and the sasistic solent sympathiser with treason, he votes habitually from day to day, and shames his logo afternow and an electric blastesmen, rather than political adventurers?

THE Spirit is needlessly exercised because the Removerous has advocated a re-cast of Mr. Lincohi's cabinet. The Spirit don't do such things for the very good reason that it don't do much thinking for itself, and never speaks until its course is clear of all obstructions. In abort, it is a mere partian journal, and don't trouble itself with independence of expression, but meekly follows as its leaders dictate. If its party is necessitated to put on a tolerably plain stripe of loyalty, very well—if it is enabled to display its favorite coppery hue, the Spirit follows and loves it all the better.

Believing as we do that the cabinet is impaired in popular respect and unsfulness by the palpable antagonism of earliet in the surface of the Union party has emphasically demanded reconstruction. It may not be done even now; but assured as we are that if it is not done evil may result therefrom, we prefer stating the truth and leaving consequences to others.

The intimation of the Spirit that blunders and needless sacrifices in the management of the war have resulted from cabinet dissentions, is unlike untrue and absurd. The ministerial antagonism of which we complain in that which openly confronts the proclaimed policy of the administration, in vindicasting loyalty by the just punishment of treason. We hold that treason is a rime for which there can be not included in a National cabinet at this day that holds that treason and accossion forfeit no rights under the Constitution.

ment in a National cabinet at this day that holds that treason and accession forfeit no rights under the Constitution.

The Spirit denounces Grant—his offence being that he persistently fights the rebels instead of retreating after the fashion of M Clellan. Don't be hasty, neighbor: the Chicago Convention is postponed; Little Mac' is overboard, and where you will fall in the new deal, no one can conjecture. It may be Grant, the 'Woolley Horse,' Vallandigham, or "any other man." It is not safe for the Spirit to speak evil of any one just now. We give this admonition gratis!

The Copperheads of Bedfard county have nominated B. F. Myers, Eag, of the Gazzte, for Assembly, and Michael Werts for Commissioner. Conjecturing the conference were chosen friendly to the re-nomination of Gen. Coffrosh and Musers, O. E. Shannon, J. G. Hartley and J. H. He was the cally man we have heard of lot this State who openly justified the riots of Sepunour's "friends," in New York. He will be handsomely defeated, and will be a and-der and we trant a wiser man after the people pass upon his case next fall. The resolutions adopted demounce the war, the draft, and indeed pretty much everything but Jef Davis and Statery. Considering that Judge Kimmell is a War Democrat we commend to his careful consideration the resolutions with which his name is mingled, and especially the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That we are in favor of an armistice and cessenge of hondition, in care for to make with one of the Spirit to one or two recent incidents, which has acquarantees with any accessing of hondition, in order to make any of peace and the proper compromises and the subject of the States their constitutional rights.

guarantees water any secure to an proper or the States their constitutional rights.

We beg the attention of the Spirit to one or two recent incidents, which have destities escaped its notice. Gen. Statyin, a copper-head General of the most approved sort, led a command out from Memphis recently, and by palpable incompetency or treachery succriticed all his material of war, and many of his mea—the rebel Forrest capturing more Union sol—ture, mostly copied from the entire rebel force. Will the Spirit please let us have its smeal lecture, mostly copied from the Wertel, on political and incompetent Genorals?

Again—a smeotestion of copperhands in Tamana, Schaylkill country, nearbut that a keyl in proprophilable there should be demaficiated in proprophilable there should be demaficiated at the ordine was promptly guited and the condent of attroped, solely because it was guity of sustaining the government. Will the Spirit nest the occurrence, and girst—its attencetyped oversion of indiguation at this attempt, to suppress the freedom of the press?

Our readers will remember that some months ago we published a statement that a band of twenty-form men. Usion refugees from Rockingham en., Va., had passed over the South Mountain into Adams county, where they were engaged in cutting timber. Here the small pox broke out among the party, and some of these sield, and the rest exactered; among these who died was a son of the sider Mr. Henely, the husband of the younger woman of that name. He was a young man, perhaps not uncer than 19 or 29) years old, and had been in the service about two years. We sympathise with bis parents and others friends in this sad becreavement. They are not without the ounsition, however, that he gave his young life in a noble cause—the cause of his country and housanity, and that the good and loyal, for such valor and devotion, will honor his memory.

The last portion of the Signal Corps encamped near this place started for Harpers Ferry on Monday last under command of Lieut. Kennedy. It numbered about sixty men. Many of the number are from this country, sons of some of our most respectable citizens, and are by education and physical development well qualified for the particular branch of the service to which they are statehed. This was the last body of troops encamped about this place, surably or almost wholly destroyed it in spouty or poorly farmed soil.

THE WHEAT COURT THE ATTEMPT OF THE A

It is gnearfly noticed that the white or assosth Wheat has suffered most by the winter: and its unfavorable appearance several weeks ago has made many farmers resolve not to sow it again. It is true that it has suffered somewhat more by the winter than the Meditoraneas Wheat; but we do not regard the relative degree of failure so marked as is generally stated. We have somesixly acres of white Wheat to harvest, such early acreal of white Wheat to harvest, such early variety. Both are growing on different qualities of soil, and we have carefully observed the results. On the low, heavy limestone soil we find he injury done by the winter to both varieties as about equal. Where the land is quite low, so that water stood upon it during the heavy winter raios, both kinds are almost total failures; but where the chances are about equal, the crops promise about equally well. The white Wheat tooked much less promising than the other early in the spring, and now appears to be much thimer on the ground; but the disparity in the yield will not sustain the appearent difference in the growth. The be much thinner on the ground; but the disparity in the yield will not seatain the apparent difference in the growth. The rod Wheat has long, heavy blades which with the bushy heads, make the crops look much more heavy than it really is, while the white Wheat has very light blades and perfectly smooth heads, and thus appears to be a much lighter crop, when compared with the red variety. We have white Wheat en fallow ground and oats ground, and and insteck land that was not farmed in oats; and there is carcedy a perceptible difference in the fields. We have it also on both slate and limestone land; and the former being elevated, it was net so much injured by the winter, and will give rather the best yield rearer. In the slate land, however, it is a slightly injured by the Heastan fly. The best growth of the white Wheat we have is in part of a heavy limestone field that had been tramped hard by the armies, and could not be worked into a mellow condition. As the winter softened the neavy clother working the working of the workin condition. As the winter softened the heavy clods they settled down, covering the roots of the Whest, and thus afforded protection from the rain and frosts.

After a careful examination of the two arieties of Wheat on different soils, we to not share the prevalent conviction of ur. Franklin county farmers that the bits Wheat should be shandoned. We hall sow it again in nearly equal proposes with the red variety, and hope to rofit by it. While it may not stand an accommonly wet and variable winter site so well as the red variety, it should shall sow ...

4 that it is not
hat quita so well as the red variety, it should be remembered that we do not have once in ten years so severe a winter upon Wheat as was the last, and that it is not reasonable to expect it to encounter that peril habitasily. If a good crop of white Wheat could be raised every other year, and a crop like the precent in alternate years, farmers would be compensated by raising it. The first year we tried three bushels of it and seeded two acros. Lancaster and Rochester were sown in the same field, and the white Wheat stood up well while the other went down early and onever recovered. On the two acros seeded with three bushels of white Wheat we never recovered. On the two acros seeded with three bushels of clean grain.—thirty-six bushels to the acre—and the average yield of the red varieties was under eightone bushels to the acre—on domin of white yielded a bushel, and did not take half the room in the barn required for a dozen of the Mediteranean, and the laster yielded a bushel, and did not take half the room in the barn included and the laster yielded a bushel to overy weight; the red was under weight—the red was under weight; the red was under weight—the wing gosen dawn before the grain was allied, and failed to ripen; and the white yielded a bushel two varieties; and the white yielded abushel twenty per Lenft. more per nerthan the red, Last year we harvested early an equal amount of the two varieties; and the white yielded and about twenty per Lenft. more per nerthan the red; gained shout eight bushels year we harvested meaning as equal to a white yielded about twenty per zent more per acre than the red; gained about cight bushels in the hundred in weight, while the red harely held out, and the white wold for $1.57. The red for $1.60. This year, notwithstanding the apparent difference between the red and white varieties in the field, we are confident that the white will yield as much money per acre has the red; and but for the dinguistry averse winter, it would pay thirty per cent. more per acre than the other. White Wheat can not, always be sown with profit whelve red may be sown. If men will help land poor and farm it budly, with Wheat can poor and farm it budly, with Wheat Chambershore, Palledelphia.

In mind, noweys, the it is quite peace.

It is a popular error that seed Wheat must be changed every few years to pre serve its growth and yfeld. Sidch is not the case. There are well attested instances of the entiture of the same wheat on the same land for twenty years, and its yield and quality rather improved thereby the degenerated. We do not say that it is wrong to change seed, if quite as good or better seed can thereby be obtained; but we are convinced that it is not necessary to preserve a good quality of grain. Seed Wheat should be treaded ifferently from all the other crops on the farm. It should be carefully selected on the ground—taking the heaviest growth if standing and well filled, or if not, the portion of the field that promises to matter the portion of the field that promises to matter well and produce the largest grains.
