

WAR NEWS

The news from the army of Northern Virginia during the past week, especially that of the Vickers along the line of the Central R.R., and their near approach to the city were facts well calculated to arouse our sympathies for those who are fighting for the power of Kilpatrick and his midnight assassins and plunderers. Notwithstanding the great evil with which this marauding force started out, it is their unshakable conviction, we suppose, all matters were well weighed by the General Assembly and with all the lights before them they have justified for the least.

Thanks to an overruling Providence and to the stout hearts and strong arms of our gallant soldiers for this auspicious result, and may such auspicious news meet with the same hurried fate.

From the army of Gen. Johnston at Dalton we learn that all is quiet, and no disposition on the part of the enemy to advance since their late repulse. The grand combination movement of Sherman and Yoche in Mississippi which according to Yankee authority was to comprise the capture of the city of Vicksburg, has retreated back in the direction from whence he came across the Big Black.

Gen. Forrest obtained a complete victory over Sherman, and drove him from the vicinity of Pontotoc. The road for many miles was strewn with haversacks and dead Yankees, and everything which formerly belonged to them. Sherman's army, which he had with about 2000, and led the charges mostly himself. The enemy had three times that number.

We learn by yesterday's mail of the capture of several Yankee vessels. Capt. J. M. Kelly, John Marshall of the C. & N. Y., with the assistance of Capt. Pittsburg and 13 Privates of the 6th Va. Cavalry. They all crossed the Chesapeake Bay, and captured the side-wheel steamer "Titan," the schooner "Mary Parker," and forty private property was bonded; the schooner was scuttled, and the tug was run into an inlet on the Western shore of the bay, where it had been dismantled and destroyed.

The people of the Confederate States will not be surprised when they read the address of Col. Dahlgren, published in another column, of his plumed sword, selected to sweep through the city of Richmond, and to murder our President and Cabinet, and kill or destroy whatever they were unable to carry off which might be of use to the Rebels. This address is not merely the addressed address of the fallen Dahlgren, to rouse his followers to do a daring deed, and nerve them to the task of meeting an outraged populace, but also a condemnation of the policy of the intention and purpose of the bold, bad men who are in power in the United States.

An Important Decision

The Court of Appeals of Virginia has just rendered a decision of great importance, and one which will have a far-reaching effect upon the rights of the people of that State. The case in question is that of the State of Virginia against the heirs of the late Gen. Robert E. Lee. The court has decided in favor of the State, and has ordered that the property of the late General be sold, and the proceeds used to pay the debts of the State.

The court's decision is a landmark one, as it establishes the principle that the property of a public officer, when he dies, is to be considered as the property of the State. This is a principle which will have a far-reaching effect upon the rights of the people of that State.

THE COURSE OF THE CONFEDERATE ARMY

The course of the Confederate army during the past week has been one of great interest. The army has moved from its position at the Central R.R. towards the city of Richmond. The movements of the army have been carefully watched by the Federal authorities, and it is believed that the Confederate army is preparing for a final assault upon the city.
