VALLEY SPIRIT.

CHAMBERSBURG, PA.

CIRCULATION 2,900 COPIES

Wednesday Morning, May 11, 1859.

J. M. CAMPBELL, Editor.

Author General, RICH. L. WRIGHT, of Philadelphia.

Surveyor General, JOHN ROWE, of Franklin County.

Signs of Returning Reason.

For many years past that portion of Ohio known as the "Western Reserve" has been distinguished for its intense Abolitionism.

But last year a sudden change appeared to come over the spirit of the Western Reserve. The old mischief maker GIDDINGS was unexpectedly thrown overboard by his own party.

It has long been the boast of the Ohio Abolitionists, whose "central light" is the Oberlin College, where black and white, male and female, are educated together.

The conviction of BUSHNELL for rescuing slaves by a jury sitting on "the free soil of the Western Reserve," and the determination of the Supreme Court of Ohio not to obstruct the administration of justice by the Courts and officers of the United States.

Why should we engage our attention? We have nothing to fear from the millions of slaves in the South, except their liberation. We who live in the free States are men from "the cause of slavery" so long as we let slavery alone.

Gov. Packer. If this high and mighty functionary don't speedily recover from the severe attack of the Democratic Convention, it will not be for want of careful Black Republican nursing.

The Convention. The Democratic Convention at Chambersburg, Pa., has been conducted in a manner which has attracted the attention of the whole country.

The Unprincipled Opposition.

It is worthy of public observation that while Democratic candidates in the North are always denounced for alleged "unbecoming to the South," the Democratic candidates for Governor of Virginia, too, all through the canvass just closed, were bitingly assailed by the opposition for alleged unfaithfulness to the institution of slavery!

Not regarding Mr. LETCHER as sound enough on the slavery question, the opposition in Virginia selected a candidate from that portion of the State most deeply interested in the maintenance of the peculiar institution.

How did this news from Virginia affect the opposition in the free States? Did they throw up their hats for LETCHER, who was not quite a fast enough "sugar driver" for the opposition in Virginia?

Thus by the interest they displayed in the success of GOOGIN did the opposition in the free States expose their wretched hypocrisy. They care nothing about slavery. Their sole wish is to defeat the Democracy.

War in Europe.

Affairs on the continent of Europe have worn a very threatening aspect for some months past. The little Kingdom of Sardinia, backed by the big empire of France has been striving to provoke Austria into some act of hostility.

We have had no love for Austria since the Hungarian revolution, but we can't help wishing her success in any collision that may grow out of her present quarrel with France and Sardinia.

Gov. Packer.

If this high and mighty functionary don't speedily recover from the severe attack of the Democratic Convention, it will not be for want of careful Black Republican nursing.

The Convention. The Democratic Convention at Chambersburg, Pa., has been conducted in a manner which has attracted the attention of the whole country.

"A Great Speech"

The Transcript publishes what it calls a "great speech" of Hon. JOHN HICKMAN, in the Independent Democratic Convention at Harrisburg.

This "lean and hungry Carnian," HICKMAN, pretends to be a Democrat, and the Republican papers publish his speech in hopes of catching Democratic judges.

Such is a part of the past political history of this foul mouthed demagogue and false hearted deceiver. That he should abuse our Democratic President, and denounce the action of the Democratic party, is not to be wondered at.

Very Strange. The Transcript thinks it strange that the Spirit, which advocated the election of Mr. PACKER in 1857, should now denounce him as "the 'patriotic' rascal who occupies the Governor's chair of Pennsylvania."

"A public man who is fortunate in his friends is an object of envy to his opponents." Mr. Packer is fortunate in his enemies.

We appeal to the honest and intelligent people of Pennsylvania, and the whole country, to say if there could have been written a more full, complete, and unequivocal endorsement of the doctrine and principles for which Mr. Buchanan is now so bitterly assailed, than is contained in the language used by Col. Forney when he spoke of the traitor.

Boerum, May 6.—It is reported that an investigation at Salem, on Monday last, by two agents of the United States Treasury Department, Mr. G. W. Mallet, collector of Customs, testified that the signature of free free handed money, was forged in his presence by Messrs. Lovell and G. W. Phipps.

Washington, May 6.—Mr. Campbell, Secretary of the Convention, has been elected to the office of Secretary of the Convention.

Forney Condemned out of his own Mouth.

The charge made by Forney & Company Mr. Buchanan is, that he has been false to the Christian platform and his own pledges on the subject of slavery in the territories. The position of Mr. Buchanan upon which this charge is based may be stated in a few words.

On the 16th of August, 1857, Mr. Buchanan addressed to Prof. Stillman and his clerical associates his celebrated letter on the Kansas question.

Every candid reader will admit that this extract contains the announcement of three distinct propositions: 1. Slavery exists in the territories under the constitution of the United States.

A single word more—applicable not only to Col. Forney, but to many others who now assail the President for his doctrine and principles on the question of popular sovereignty.

When we published our article of the 21st inst. we had only an extract from the editorial of Colonel Forney, in which he endorsed the President's Stillman letter.

At midnight yesterday evening, just as we were preparing to go to press, the paragraph brought in the following correspondence between President Buchanan and three citizens of Connecticut.

That our readers may have the whole question before them, as it was before Col. Forney when he penned the article from which we quote, we insert the following paragraph from the President's language, which, it must be borne in mind, had previously been announced to the country at the very moment of his election upon the basis of his offer:

Washington, May 6.—Mr. Campbell, Secretary of the Convention, has been elected to the office of Secretary of the Convention.

The Territory of Kansas shall be admitted as a State, it shall be required that the Union with or without slavery, in their constitution they provide for the free soil of these territories.

Take these doctrines, thus approved and defended by Colonel Forney in language of unbounded and enthusiastic eulogy, and compare them with the principles which he and his associates lately proclaimed at Harrisburg, and then say who has stood firm and true.

Will Colonel Forney attempt to reconcile the doctrines of the Stillman letter and his own editorial with the principles of the foregoing resolutions?

He then read, in this masterly letter of the President, the evidence of patriotism, ability, and statesmanship.

But Mr. Forney does not join in this opinion and universal feeling with the Democracy. The friend has become the foe.

ADVANCE OF CIVILIZATION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—By the arrival of bark Valuta at this port, we have Cape of Good Hope papers of February.

The three Kaffirs have been accused of trouble, and a long and bloody war with the English was brought to a close only a few years ago.

At midnight yesterday evening, just as we were preparing to go to press, the paragraph brought in the following correspondence between President Buchanan and three citizens of Connecticut.

That our readers may have the whole question before them, as it was before Col. Forney when he penned the article from which we quote, we insert the following paragraph from the President's language, which, it must be borne in mind, had previously been announced to the country at the very moment of his election upon the basis of his offer:

of that word which, upon his own mouth, he has pronounced to be the only one that is proper attention to the general rule, and in this case, the exception makes a good case to the contrary.

There is that in the President's letter which appeals to higher emotions than party feuds. When he wrote his great Oregon letter, two years ago, he struck a chord in every patriotic heart, and was answered by an outburst of unbounded enthusiasm and praise.

Thus wrote the enthusiastic friend of the President, under the inspiration which his patriotic letter had produced.

Will Colonel Forney attempt to reconcile the doctrines of the Stillman letter and his own editorial with the principles of the foregoing resolutions?

He then read, in this masterly letter of the President, the evidence of patriotism, ability, and statesmanship.

But Mr. Forney does not join in this opinion and universal feeling with the Democracy. The friend has become the foe.
